

The Heavens Declare

Based on Psalm 19:1-4, 7 and Romans 11:33-36

©2000 Mark W. Tindle

The heavens declare to all the glory of God,
And the earth proclaims His handiwork.
Day after day, and night after night,
Their voice is heard throughout the earth.

Saying, "Let every creature rejoice and praise His holy name,
For by His word and for Him alone we were made."
Therefor let all who dwell on the earth stand in awe of Him,
For only by the word of the Lord do we live.

The law of the Lord is pure, restoring the soul,
And the word He has written forever stands!
His promises are sure, His mercies endure;
Eternal life is secure within His hands.

Oh, the depths of the wisdom of God, who can understand?
Who has ever known the mind of the Lord?
How unsearchable His judgements are, His ways past finding out.
To Him be the glory forevermore, Amen!

The same Almighty God who wonderfully made me
Came to earth to save me!

So, may the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart
Be pleasing in Your sight, O, my Lord;
For You are the rock of my salvation.
You alone are worthy of my praise!
Yes, You alone are worthy of my praise!